

REPRODUCTION REQUEST FORM

North Baker Research Library
678 Mission Street, San Francisco, CA 94105

Conditions of Use and Policies

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17 United States Code) governs the making of reproductions of copyrighted material. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the reproduction is not to be “used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research.” If a researcher uses a reproduction for purposes in excess of “fair use,” that researcher may be liable for copyright infringement.

COPYRIGHT AND USE

- CHS encourages researchers to use materials in our collections that are in the public domain, and to make fair use of copyright materials as defined by copyright law.
- Many of CHS' special collection materials are still within copyright. While the library owns the physical objects in its collections, in the majority of cases CHS does not own the intellectual content. CHS cannot grant or deny permission to publish or distribute material whose copyright it does not hold, or materials deemed to be in the public domain. Please note that copyright law protects published as well as unpublished materials.
- Materials, and images of them, may be protected by copyright, trademark, privacy, publicity rights, or other interests not owned by CHS. In obtaining a reproduction from CHS, responsibility for determining the rights status of materials, making an independent legal assessment of an item, and securing any necessary permissions ultimately rests with any person intending to use an item. The patron is responsible for obtaining all required permissions from copyright holders, and other rights holders, before publishing, distributing, or in any other way using a protected item beyond that allowed by fair use.
- Requests to copy CHS's materials, where CHS is the clear copyright holder, constitute an agreement that permission is granted for one-time, non-exclusive, worldwide use of an image in all languages, in any media, for the life of the title, as well as use in advertising and promotional materials. This does not imply permission for any derivative products or productions. Permissions for materials that CHS holds copyright over are not transferable. Resale of any image that CHS holds copyright over in any form is prohibited.
- CHS will try to provide patrons with information regarding the holders of copyright for materials in their collections. Please note that often this information is not on file and CHS does not have the resources to conduct copyright research for patrons. In such cases, it is the patron's responsibility to attempt to locate the copyright holder. CHS cannot guarantee the accuracy of any rights holder information, and shall not be responsible for any inaccurate information.

PRIVACY AND PUBLICITY RIGHTS

The publisher/user is solely responsible for addressing issues of privacy and publicity rights related to the use of CHS's materials. Fair use is not a defense for violating privacy or publicity rights as the rights of privacy and publicity are distinct from copyright. Copyright laws protect the copyright owner's property rights in the work, but privacy and publicity rights protect the interests of the individuals who are the subject of the work. While a person's right to privacy usually ends with his or her death, it should be noted that publicity rights associated with any commercial value of that person's name or image or likeness, continues after their death. Unlike copyright, which is subject to the Copyright Act of 1976, privacy and publicity rights are subject to state laws.

DISCLAIMER

In receiving a reproduction from CHS's holdings, the patron assumes all responsibility for infringement of copyright or other rights in the use of the material. CHS makes no warranties or representations and assumes no responsibility whatsoever for any claims against the applicant or CHS by artists, their agents, estates, or by any parties in connection with the reproduction of items in the collections of CHS.
